Claims 26-46 are allowed.

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 47-68 stand and newly added claims 69-73 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as containing subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention, for reasons of record set forth in the Office Action mailed 3 October 2002.

At pages 3 and 4 of the amendment filed 7 March 2003, Applicant argues that stable grafting of the recited cells has been demonstrated. However, it is not the stability or success of the graft which is in question, but rather the stability of the expression of a recombinant gene or transgene which may be expressed in the cells of the graft. At page 5, Applicant argues that the ability to achieve grafts with the cells broadly enables the claims, and that the genetic modification is not necessary for inducing a change in diseased or damaged cells, and that no systemic response in the patient is needed. However, the instant claims certainly encompass embodiments where the expression of a recombinant gene would deliver a therapeutic benefit. Indeed, the paragraph bridging pages 4 and 5 of the amendment asserts as much. Clearly, those embodiments require the predictable, sustained expression of the recombinant gene, and as such, are subject to the technical problems known in the art and discussed in the previous Office Action.

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
